

HOW THE MANCHUS CONQUERED CHINA

History affords no parallel to the conquest of China by the Manchus, and in endeavoring to explain how it happened an American writer is forced to invent a supposition case. If, somewhere in British Columbia, there was a clan of savages, only a few scores of men, women and children, and while the United States were trying to put down a war between Mexico and the United States, the clan would general assistance to that of the Manchus in China. The complete conquest of the United States would have made many and intellectual efforts to get rid of the invaders, and would have after two hundred and fifty years. This simile is not an exaggeration though it does not coincide with history on two or three points, and if it is borne in mind that the Manchus were the inferior race, and that they were not more brave than the Chinese, it will be admitted that nothing quite like the exploit ever occurred in the history of the world.

The Founder of the Manchus.
There is difference of opinion as to the origin of the Manchus. It is said that they were descendants of the Huns, who once overran Europe and destroyed a great civilization. Others declare that they were merely the descendants of Chinese, who, driven out by other outlaws, who fled from their country and took up their residence in the north. In the history of the Manchus Rev. John Ross traces their descent to one family, and divides them into three groups. The first, the Manchus, whose ancestors were the first Manchus, the Emperor of China, had no more than a hundred followers when he invaded the great nation to the south. The Manchus, grandfather again was the founder of the family, and though he was a famous robber, his hand seemed only eighteen. Certain it seems that the force that Manchus led to the walls of Peking, armed with bows and arrows, would have been easily a match for police. Had it not been for treachery and mismanagement of the Manchus, who were the rulers of China, the Manchus followers would have been exterminated, before they had got 20 miles across the border.

The Manchus' Conspiracy.
A succession of weak Emperors, plus a succession of corrupt eunuchs, who were the real power behind the throne, played into the hands of the invaders. The eunuchs, jealous of their own power, conspired against a Chinese general who promised to be successful, denounced him to the Emperor, and had him beheaded. Thus it was that the Chinese soldiers were usually led by the most incompetent men in the kingdom. Of course, the eunuchs did not suppose that there was any real danger to their country from the Manchus. It is probable that they had never heard of the tribe and supposed them to be merely a band of marauders who could be wiped out whenever it was necessary. By the time that the Manchus were recognized as a real peril they had won so many victories over the Chinese troops and had so extensively pillaged the country that the Chinese trembled at their name. But, as long as the Manchus lived they were so few in numbers that they were regarded much as the people of the Western States regarded Jesse James forty years ago.

The Great Chinese Rebellion.

On one occasion, and on one only, the Chinese force went against the northern raiders was properly led, and on that occasion Noorhachu was defeated. However, the Emperor paid no attention to the northern robbers. Their attention was directed to crushing the more serious revolts that rose in other parts of the country, and for fifty years or so the business of governing China was a business of quelling the rebellion. In the meantime, the Manchus reinforced by other outlaws, had harvested China, and on the approach of this performance Noorhachu's successor, Taijwan, claimed the title of Emperor of Peking, but it is probable that he never heard of him. Taijwan did his share in pillaging China, but made no real attempt to master the country and it was not until after his death that the event occurred that gave the kingdom to the Manchus. This event was the success of a rebellion that broke out in the south of China, and that threatened to sweep the country.

The Manchus' opportunity.
The leader was Li Chuan, whose followers seized Peking and caused the last of the Ming Emperors to commit suicide. He was the master of the capital, and his authority was undisputed only by Wu Sangui, an officer who had charge of a garrison near the northern frontier. When threatened by Li's troops, Wu asked the Manchus to become his allies. They consented, and falling suddenly on the flank of Li's army, won a victory. The loyal Chinese rose and pursued the rebels, and led by Wu finally put down the rising. In the meantime the Manchus had reached Peking and when Wu returned he found that they had put Noorhachu's grandson, a boy of seven on the throne. The Ming dynasty had become extinct; there was no other Chinese in the land, and the Manchus in the hands of the family, and though he was a famous robber, his hand seemed only eighteen. Certain it seems that the force that Manchus led to the walls of Peking, armed with bows and arrows, would have been easily a match for police. Had it not been for treachery and mismanagement of the Manchus, who were the rulers of China, the Manchus followers would have been exterminated, before they had got 20 miles across the border.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 16.—An empty passenger train returning to Livingston struck a Northern Pacific Rock, three miles west of Pipestone, killing six men who were riding in the caboose of the freight train. Among the dead are Louis Cole, Butte, roadmaster, and Fred Rudiger, Livingston, conductor. The cars took fire immediately and before the wrecking crew could be summoned four bodies were cremated.

Lisbon, Nov. 16.—Advices today from Portuguese East Africa, state that the assassination of the Bishop of Nyasaland has been arrested. Another despatch on Tuesday told of the murder of the Right Reverend A. J. Domes, Bishop of Nyasaland, recently at Kabi on the Portuguese side of the Lake Nyasa. The British residents at Kutsikwa, investigated the matter, which resulted in the arrest of the offender.

219,055,000 IN ROOT FOODER CROPS OF 1911

Report of Census and Statistics Office Shows Total Area of 8,000,482 Acres in Crop With Potatoes, Beans, Tobacco, Clover, Hay and Clover.

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—The report of the census and statistics office for the month ending October 31st, shows that the total area in potatoes, roots, fooder crops, hay, and clover this year was 8,000,482 acres, with a total value of $219,055,000. This is $1,000,000 more than last year, and there is a decrease of $1,210,000 in hay and clover.

The largest increase is shown in potatoes, which is nearly $4,000,000 more than last year, although the product is less by 4,000,000 bushels, the average selling price being six cents per bushel accompanied by 43 cents a year ago. The value of this year's product of hay, clover and fooder crops is $129,055,000, which is less than last year's value by $2,000,000, potatoes, turnips and other roots and sugar beets have a value of $55,900,000 being more than last year's value by $1,210,000.

Values by Provinces.
The quality of all crops this year is 95 per cent and over, excepting sugar beets, which is 88 per cent, and last year all crops excepting potatoes, turnips and other roots were over 80. The values of all root and fooder crops this year by provinces were $1,210,000 in Prince Edward Island; $12,210,000 in Nova Scotia; $12,990,000 in New Brunswick; $13,115,000 in Quebec; $29,448,000 in Ontario; $5,837,000 in Manitoba; $1,790,000 in Saskatchewan; and $4,321,000 in Alberta.

The area sown to fall wheat this season is 1,077,000 acres being 717,000 acres in Ontario and 360,000 in Alberta. This is 2.55 per cent less than a year ago. The per cent of fall ploughing completed ranges from 72.7 in Ontario to 40.10 in Prince Edward Island for the Eastern Provinces, and from 18.72 in Alberta to 24.12 in Manitoba for the western provinces, which is less than the average of last year at the same date. For summer fallowing, the average in all provinces is well over 50 per cent for each of the three years 1909-1911.

Only Case in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Nov. 17.—An ugly case developed at the assize court today. A negro named Prince Cleveland Le'ge charged with procuring a respectable German woman, Mrs. Kate Kalk, who with her husband and children took a room in the house kept by Cleveland and his family, last night on a job, the negro took advantage of the defenceless woman and passed the word round to Chinamen, who visited the house from time to time, the children being locked up in a cupboard.

THE FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL MARKETS

EDMONTON CITY MARKET.

Monday, Nov. 13.—The local market is at a standstill so far as prices are concerned. While grain quotations are not any weaker than they were several days ago, there seems to be little if any inclination to get on the bull side of the market, and the farmers are still watching the situation with more or less concern. The crop in the heart of the history of agricultural development in Central Alberta and the market prices have much to tell of the soil.

The present local crop is regarding the movement of vegetables to the city. Farmers and gardeners are busy preparing for the winter by bringing in their supplies of potatoes and other vegetables. The local market has, however, fairly well supplied at present, with no immediate prospect of a shortage.

Potatoes are still low at 35 cents a bushel, but in all probability will sell at a higher figure in the near future.

CHIEF JUSTICE MAKES A SHARP CRITICISM

Persons who make affidavits should know to what they are swearing—Should know in connection with this case.

Persons who make affidavits should be thoroughly familiar with the documents they are signing and the subject matter thereof, to which they take solemn oath, be the substance of Chief Justice Harvey's criticism of the affidavits made by the defendant in the Supreme Court yesterday during the trial of the case of Geo. J. Hill against Frutkinman & Grieder, proprietors of the Edmonton House Furnishing Company. In the cross-examination of the defendant it developed that late in September they were to affidavits in support of an application for a continuance of the case on the ground that one Clarence Linton, a former employee of their furniture establishment, was a material witness and he could not then be located. Frutkinman and Grieder both denied the truth of the statement and the solicitor who appeared for the defendant admitted that a mistake had been made.

Should Have Known. "It doesn't make any difference whose mistake it was," interrupted the court, "the man who signed those affidavits should have known what they were signing. It is no excuse whatever. They were sworn to and done once or twice before in other cases."

His Lordship's language and manner indicated that he was greatly displeased with this phase of the case. Mr. Linton, the case on trial, is being to remove the case from trial for alleged breach of contract. At the time he entered the employ of the defendant company, an agreement was signed by both, under the terms of which Linton was to receive 10 per cent. commission on all sales of furniture. In the event either party cancelled the agreement, it stipulated that the other party was to receive $100. About a month afterwards it seems that Linton and Grieder had a different version, however, having a different version of what was actually said. The result of the heated interview was that Grieder discharged Linton, hence the present action in the case.

Plaintiff Wins the Case. Chief Justice Harvey rendered judgment in favor of the plaintiff in the case of the Hill Agricultural Hall Company, Limited, against Geo. J. Hill & Frutkinman, involving ownership of 100 acres of land, for which it was alleged, the defendant refused to turn over the title. The plaintiff company first secured a lease on the land, as well as an option for purchase within five years, and later decided to buy, resulting in litigation for a period of two or three years.

Action to Recover on Contract. The case of W. R. Aron against W. R. West was called for trial in the afternoon. The plaintiff is a contractor and he is suing for judgment for about $4,000, balance alleged to be due for the work for building a number of houses for the defendant. The defence alleges that the work was not done according to specifications.

BEFORE JUDGE WINCHESTER.

Stratton and Warren Exercise Right of Election in Currency Charge. Toronto, Nov. 17.—The case of Stratton and J. J. Warren yesterday exercised their right of election and decided, instead of being tried in the Assize Court, to appear before His Honor Judge Winchester. It was a big surprise which was sprung on the judge when he learned that the accused had surrendered to the sheriff and had been committed to the county jail. They are charged with conspiracy in connection with securing the certificate from the Finance Minister, giving the Finance Bank power to carry on the business of a chartered bank. A speedy trial may be the result. No such action was taken by the directors of the bank, Messrs. John Watson, Dr. John Ferguson, Alexander Fraser, Alex. R. Lowe, Clark H. Smith, secretary of the bank, and Dr. William Heist Macphail.

Escaping Manhunt.

On the city a number of rebel soldiers stood to watch for manhunters trying to escape with ropes. They are attempting to escape were riddled with bullets as they lowered themselves down. At a place near Hankow, when the fugitives left their premises, the rebels caught gangs of followers, "beheaded them and nailed their heads to the doors of stores and houses with signs telling of the fate other rebels were to meet."

Fugitive Troops Make Demonstration

London, Nov. 17.—A news despatch from Tien Tsin, China, dated yesterday, French and Russian troops made separate demonstration there today by parading in the streets.

Lenox's Indictment.

Napanee, Ont., Nov. 16.—E. M. Madole of Napanee, was nominated in the federal interests today to contest Lenox for the legislature.

The vessel is reported to be in pieces and fifteen of the crew, including the captain, are drowned. No further information is obtainable from the survivors. The vessel is loaded at one of the lower ports.
